章节摘录

南疆边陲——友谊关 Ladies and gentlemen , Welcome to You Yi Guan-Friendship Pass. "You Yi" is the name of this pass , meaning "Friendship" in Chinese. "Guan" means "pass". This was a trade and transportation center as well as a military checkpoint. Chinese people still hope that "friendship" will be the most important theme for the two adjoining nations. The Friendship Pass building is a three-storied structure , 22 meters high. It is a symbolic gateway to China , 18 kilometers southwest of Ping Xiang city , it was built like an ancient city gate. The ground floor has a solid wall with a 10-meter high , 22-meter long arched gate open in the middle. The other 2 floors are the exhibition hall of the famous ancient passes in Chinese history and the meeting room for the ex-presidents and premier ministers. Now , the old building is not a defensive military facility , but it is still a reminder of the most important port of trade and exchange on the Sino-Vietnamese border. After the foundation of The People's Republic of China , It was ranked as the 1st class national pass and trade center of the country. The pass is 260 kilometers to the south of Nanning and it can be conveniently reached either by express bus or by train. This pass is one of the nine important passes in ancient China. The other eight passes are : Shan Hai Pass and Zi Jing Pass (in Hebei Province) , Jia Yu Pass (in Gansu Province) , Ping Xing Pass , Yan Men Pass and Niang Zi Pass (in Shanxi Province) , Ju Yong Pass (in Bei Jing) , Wu Sheng Pass (in Henan Province) . Those nice passes were very important trade centers as well as military checkpoints and transportation centers. This pass was first built in Han Dynasty , named Yongji Pass , Jilin Pass , and also used to be called Zhen Nan which means "Guard the South for Pacification". To show friendship and good neighborliness , the name of the pass was changed to South Befriending Pass in 1953 and then into Friendship Pass in 1965 , written by Marshal Chen-yi. Sometimes , we cannot achieve peace or balance without the use of force , though eternal peace is not available with the use of force. National defense facilities were built to protect China as early as the Qing Dynasty. Sprawling along the border is a long chain of undulating mountains , where many checkpoints have been set up. Most of the battlements were installed for the purpose of defense against invasion by the French colonialist army in the Qing Dynasty. The most famous ones are those on Jin Ji (Golden Rooster) Mountain. ……
