前言

2009 was the most difficult year for China's development since the start of the new century. However, it has mainly been the Chinese economy that has taken the lead in breaking through the global financial crisis, thereby providing a glimmer of hope for the global economic recovery. Faced with the serious effects of the global financial crisis, the Chinese government and people are united, collectively moving forward and overcoming the challenges at hand. China, in an attempt to move towards stable economic development, has achieved gratifying results and gained the world's attention. In 2009 the CPC Central Committee and the State Council persisted in regarding the maintenance of smooth, relatively fast economic development as their chief task, maintaining a proactive fiscal policy and a moderately loose monetary policy, fully implementing a comprehensive stimulus plan in response to the serious effects of the financial crisis, effectively restraining a lag in economic growth trend, thereby successfully achieving the goal of "an 8% GDP growth." In 2009 the main themes in the economy are highlighted by the following points: maintaining economic growth, structural adjustment, expanding domestic demand, benefiting

内容概要

《中国经济关键词(2009)(英文版)》内容简介：The Development Research Center of the State Council (DRC) is a policy research and consulting institution directly under the State Council of the People's Republic of China. Its main function is to undertake research on the overall, comprehensive, strategic and long-term issues related to the national economy, social development, reform and opening-up and provide policy suggestions and consulting advice to the CPC Central Committee and the State Council. The main functions of the Information Center include: editing and publishing DRC's internal study results and distributing external publications including Economic Reference, among which China Development Review (in Chinese and English) is an academic and research journal for international exchanges; collecting information and data required in DRC's research work; conducting the relevant research projects, and providing information and consulting services.

插图：After that the two gaming sides made peculiar tricks in order to get the right to speak on contract price. The coal enterprises "limited output to maintain price" by taking the opportunity when the government closed down small coal mines and enhanced safety control and treatment. The "limiting output to maintain price" supported the coal price in the first half of 2009 to a great extent. Although the coal supply was abundant, there was no major price drop in the first half of the year. The power enterprises, unwilling to be on the weak position, started importing coal in large amount by taking the opportunity when the world coal price and ocean freight were low. The drop of ocean freight at the beginning of the year also increased the competing power of the imported coal. The coal import by power enterprises was the direct cause to the price downturn of domestic coal in the first half of the year. In June, after over five months of deadlock by the coal and power sides, the five major power groups collectively announced that they had signed a major power coal supply contract with the coal enterprises in Shandong Province with agreement to increase the price by 4%; by Sept.
