章节摘录

There is a reason for everything. What seem to be new ideas develop from older ones .Consider Jazz , which developed and quickly spread in the United States in the early twentieth century , from 1900 to 1930. Jazz developed among black people who worked in the south , picking cotton and growing tobacco by the Mississippi River(密西西比河).These people , originally slaves from Africa , were poor and usually without education. Thier way of telling stories was to sing , often about religion .Later , the new music developed in the southern city of New Orleans(新奥尔良).Here , in cafes , restaurants and drinking saloons , men played the piano. Often the players improvised. This was necessary because they could not read music from printed sheets.
